Consul Day's Leaving
REGRETTED IN BRADFORD
Colchester Man Has Represented
United States There for Twelve Years.

Regarding E. S. Day of Colchester, consul to Bradford, Eng., the Yorkshire (Eng.) Observer, of Aug. 25, says: There are no fewer than sixteen columns of text devoted to an extensive and detailed account of the ramifications of the staple trade of the city—but that of the United States, of course, takes first rank, and the departure of Mr. Brussard's Day and the introduction of his successor, Mr. Augustus E. Ingram, are naturally events of considerable interest to the community. Thursday's function, therefore, partook of quite a public and official character, and though somewhat limited in number, it was a most interesting assembly brought together an assembly more representative than that which partook of the coming and going of any other consul. Mr. Day's term of office, however, is not to be measured by any such nominal standard. It has been a period in which he has established himself in the public life of Bradford by many of the best characteristics of a real American, and the note of regret at his departure was very distinct in yesterday's speeches. Not the least striking tribute was that from the new consul, who as a representative of the new consular service now in operation in the United States, and exposed to the vicissitudes of a consular career, was warm in his praise of the executive ability which has raised the Bradford consulate to such an excellent position, and which has secured an impression that was entirely favorable, and during the coming winter as an after-dinner speaker he will not doubt have many opportunities of meeting Bradford citizens. One of the most interesting features of a gathering the speaking at which was on the subject of the departure of Sir Sir Swire Smith's model address on Anglo-American relations. Incidentally there were references to the American tariff, but the point was effectively made that though these high tariff barriers were never so high Bradford trade with the United States is greater than ever.

PASSENGER HAD WRIST
BROKEN BY WINDOW.
Mrs. L. Crouch of Jersey City Met With Accident on Bar Harbor Express and Stopped Here.

A party of five passengers on the Bar Harbor north bound train were detained overnight here Thursday by an accident in which one of the women, Mrs. L. Crouch of Jersey City, suffered a broken wrist while the train was en route from Groton to Norwich. The others with Mrs. Crouch were Mr. and Mrs. George D. Ripley of Boston and Mr. M. Crouch of Mystic.
In some way a window fell on Mrs. Crouch's wrist, breaking it, as she was seated in the car. The party went on to Norwich, where Dr. J. J.
Shaban was summoned to the station.
The party was taken to the Wauregan house in carriages, where the injury was attended to by the physician.
Mrs. Crouch with her friends stayed over at the hotel during the day to have the wrist given further attention before she resumed her journey, and they all departed on an evening train for Boston.

Engineer Dray of Central Vermont Saw Obstruction and

Open Switch in Time to Stop—Tramps Believed to be Responsible.

An attempt was made to wreck a train on the Central Vermont road below Montville early Thursday morning but it was not successful as the engineer of the early morning boat train northbound saw the barrier in time to stop his train. The boat train leaving New London about five o'clock Thursday morning was the first to reach the switch a half mile above Harrison's and two miles below Mont-ville and it was sufficient to prevent him to see that the switch was thrown against him and that several ties had been placed on the tracks. He brought his train to a standstill without striking the obstruction. It was found upon investigation that when the switch had been opened it was locked in that position.

It was stated in New London Friday that few details were known there about the affair, the report having been forwarded to the offices at St.
Albans, Vt. Supt. W. E. Costello was informed of the accident and he attempts to wreck the trains at White River Junction.

It is believed that tramps were the cause of the affair, the switch is located near a dense wood and at night the glow of their fires is seen in the woods, it being known as a regular habit of the tramps to throw the switch and to place ties on the tracks. An investigation will be made regarding the matter and all the necessary precautions taken. George L.
Spafford was conductor of the train.
The obstructions were removed and the train proceeded without further trouble, but those who knew of the attempt which has been kept quiet were somewhat excited over the affair.

Night on Bald Mountain.

tortured by asthma, bent on curing him sore lungs are surely cured by it. Best

TO KILL THE DANDRUFF GERM.
Is the Only Possible Way of Having An Effective Cure.

If you see a woman or a man with luxuriant glossy hair, you may be sure neither has dandruff to amount to anything.
In nearly every case where women and men have thin hair, the scalp is over-laden with dandruff. There are hundreds of preparations that "claim" to cure dandruff, but not one of Newbro's Herpicide tells you that dandruff is the result of a germ burrowing into the scalp, and that permanent cure of dandruff and its consequent falling and baldness, can only be had by killing the germ; and there is no other preparation that will destroy that germ but Newbro's Herpicide. "Destroy the cause, and you remove the effect." Sold by leading druggists. Send 5c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co.,
